

ABSTRACT

A combination sealing and labeling tape for marking storage containers with a set of indicia corresponding to the contents of the container. A preferred embodiment of the invention includes use with containers for storage or moving items. The label consists of a flexible strip of material with an adhesive backing, and an exposed surface that includes pre-printed indicia.